22905. Adulteration and misbranding of whisky. U. S. v. 26 Pint Bottles of Whisky. Default decree of condemnation. (F. & D. no. 32743. Sample no. 62236-A.)

This case involved a product labeled "Whiskey", but which consisted of an artificially flavored and colored pomace and raisin brandy.

On May 22, 1934, the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, holding a district court, a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 26 pint bottles of whisky at Washington, D. C., alleging that the article was in possession of the Park Lane Pharmacy, Washington, D. C., and was being offered for sale and sold in the District of Columbia, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "13 Years Old Blue Ridge Whiskey Bottled by The Sherwood Distilling and Distributing Co. Baltimore, Md."

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that a pomace and raisin brandy which had been stored in charred wood and which was artificially flavored and colored, had been substituted for whisky, which the article purported to be.

Misbranding was alleged for the reason that the article was offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article, and for the further reason that the statement on the label, "Whiskey", was false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser.

On September 26, 1934, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and the court ordered that the product be disposed of in such manner as would not violate the provisions of the Federal Food and Drugs Act.

22906. Adulteration of apple butter. U. S. v. 23 Cases of Apple Butter. Default decree of condemnation, forfeiture, and destruction. (F. & D. no. 32750. Sample nos. 66617-A, 66618-A.)

This case involved a shipment of apple butter that contained lead in an amount that might have rendered it injurious to health.

On May 25, 1934, the United States attorney for the District of Colorado, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 23 cases of apple butter at Pueblo, Colo., consigned by the Allison-Bedford Co., Chicago, Ill., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce, on or about July 25, and November 18, 1933, from Chicago, Ill., and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. A portion of the article was labeled in part: "Glencrest Fancy Apple Butter * * * Allison-Bedford Co. Chicago, Ill." The remainder was labeled in part: "I. G. A. Brand Apple Butter Packed for Independent Grocers Alliance Distributing Co., Chicago, Ill."

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that it contained an added poisonous or deleterious ingredient, lead, which might have rendered it injurious to health.

On August 3, 1934, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and destruction of the product was ordered.

22907. Misbranding of canned peas. U. S. v. 47 Cases of Canned Peas. Decree of condemnation. Product released under bond to be relabeled. (F. & D. no. 32797. Sample no. 61855-A.)

This case involved a shipment of canned peas that were slack filled and that were not labeled to indicate that they were substandard.

On June 8, 1934, the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Louisiana, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 47 cases of canned peas at New Orleans, La., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce, on or about January 15, 1934, by the Minnesota Valley Canning Co., from Blue Earth, Minn., and charging misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act as amended. The article was labeled in part: "Artesian

Brand Early June Peas * * * Packed by Minnesota Valley Canning Co., Le Sueur, Minn."

The article was alleged to be misbranded in that it was canned food and fell below the standard of fill of container promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture, and its package or label did not bear a plain and conspicuous statement prescribed by regulation of this Department, indicating that it fell below such standard.

On September 17, 1934, the Minnesota Valley Canning Co., Inc., Le Sueur, Minn., having appeared as claimant for the property and having admitted the allegations of the libel, judgment of condemnation was entered and it was ordered by the court that the product be released to the claimant, upon payment of costs and the execution of a bond in the sum of $200, conditioned that it be relabeled in compliance with the law.

22908. Adulteration and misbranding of shelled peanuts. U. S. v. 75 Bags of Shelled Peanuts. Consent decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released under bond, conditioned that it should not be sold for human consumption. (F. & D. no. 32806. Sample no. 72259-A.)

This case involved a shipment of shelled peanuts that were dirty and below the grade specified on the label.

On June 5, 1934, the United States attorney for the District of Colorado, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 75 bags of shelled peanuts at Denver, Colo., consigned by the Woldert Peanut Products Co., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce, on or about May 2, 1934, from Hugo, Okla., and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "No. 2 Hand Picked Wolco Brand Spanish Shelled Peanuts Woldert Peanut Products Co., Dublin, Texas, and Hugo, Oklahoma."

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that it consisted wholly or in part of a filthy vegetable substance.

Misbranding was alleged in that the statement on the label, "No. 2", was false and misleading and tended to deceive and mislead the purchaser.

On August 1, 1934, the Woldert Peanut Products Co., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and having consented to the entry of a decree, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and the court ordered that the product be released to the claimant upon payment of costs and the execution of a bond in the sum of $250, conditioned that it be correctly labeled, and that it not be sold for human consumption.

22909. Adulteration of apples. U. S. v. 192 Boxes and 420 Baskets of Apples. Decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released under bond to be reconditioned. (F. & D. no. 33739. Sample nos. 442-B, 443-B.)

This case involved a shipment of apples that bore arsenic and lead in amounts that might have rendered them injurious to health.

On September 22, 1934, the United States attorney for the Southern District of California, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 192 boxes and 420 baskets of apples at Los Angeles, Calif., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce, on or about September 15, 1934, by E. O. Muir & Co., from Payson, Utah, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled, "Page Orchards Jonathan Apples * * * Payson, Utah."

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that it contained added poisonous ingredients, arsenic and lead, which might have rendered it injurious to health.

On September 26, 1934, E. O. Muir, having appeared as claimant and having admitted the allegations of the libel, judgment of condemnation was entered and it was ordered by the court that the product be released under a bond in the sum of $500, conditioned that it would not be sold or otherwise disposed of in violation of the law. On October 4, 1934, the apples having been reconditioned, final decree was entered ordering that the bond be exonerated upon payment of costs.
